The Truth About Boston Marathon Attack

When a country goes down this path of creating "The Enemy" all the time then in the next breath profess to have closed down and stop the same things from happening.

They fall into the trap of "Creating The New & Next Enemy" all the time, soon all they see is bad men under every bed, in every wardrobe, behind every door.

I submit that this is all that is happening at present US President Barrack Obama and his administration has NO Policies to implement for "We The People" of the United States of America.

All his policies are suited and directed to help the Zionist Jewish Bankers and Globalist World Wide to take control using the PNAC agenda and Clean break plan and help lead the Worlds countries to WW111.

US President Barrack Obama ever since elected the first term of Office and now the second term in Office has proven the be the Greatest Liar in Chief the American people have ever seen.

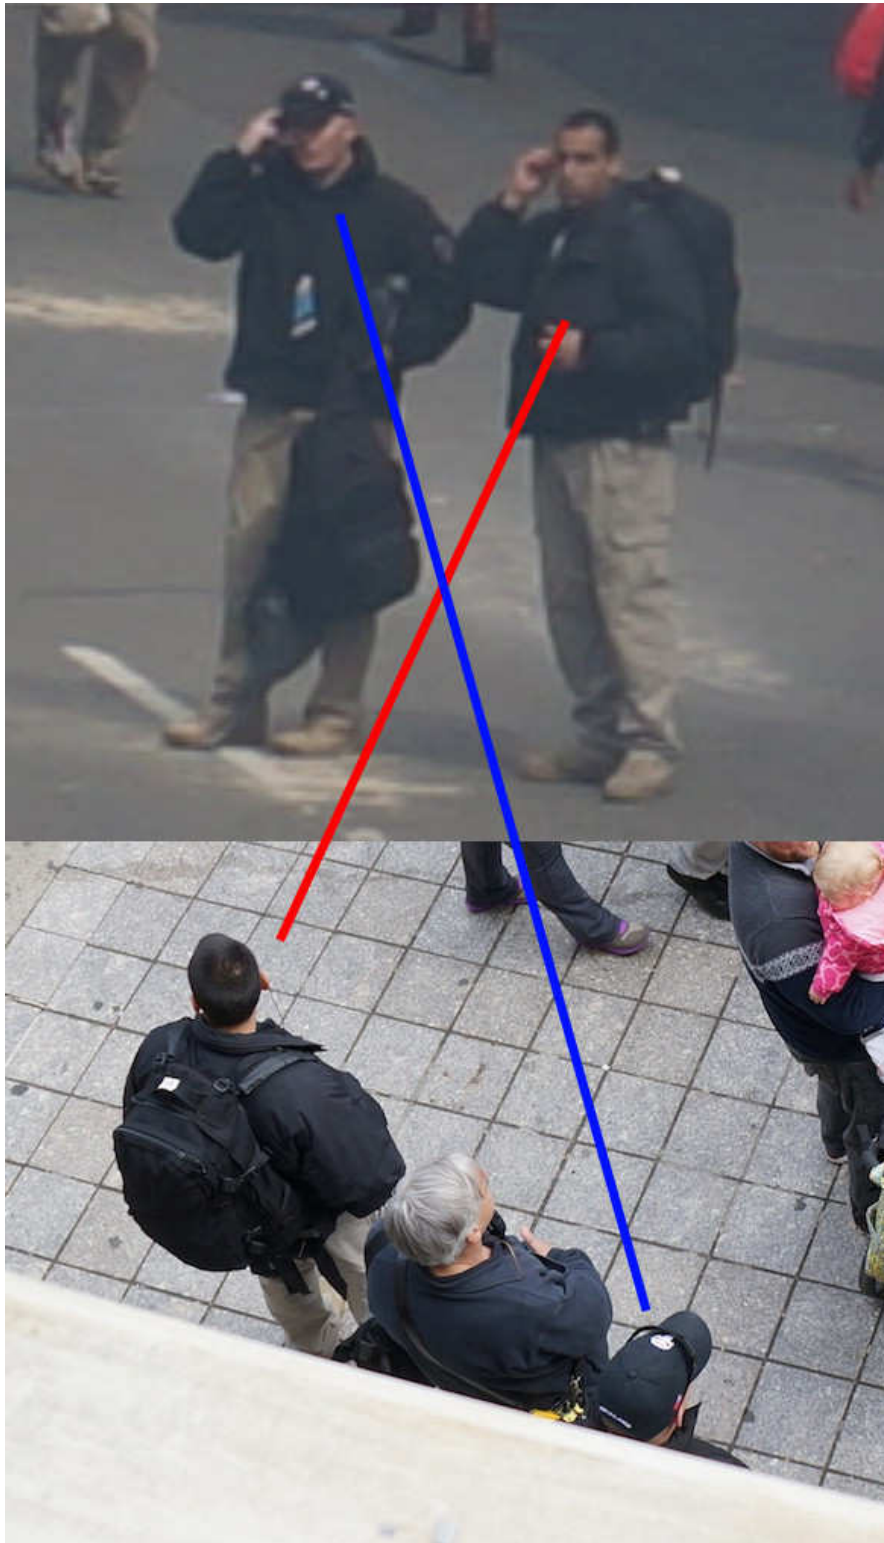

And then we have our friends at the FBI, there is 11 years of dirt and mud on this agency setting up Terrorist Plots and staging things, so in proving these attacks were a Inside Job, I will go though now and present some stories from the Alternative Media all the stuff that Mainstream never told people.

NUMBER ONE

The September 11, 2001 Attacks

What is False Flag Terrorism?

<http://dictionary.reference.com/browse/Terrorism>

The unlawful use or threatened use of force or violence by a person or an organized group against people or property with the intention of intimidating or coercing societies or governments, often for ideological or political reasons.

Understanding False Flag Terrorism

False Flag Attacks are basically Population Control measures, put into place they install fear and makes any subject or population easy to control.

Definition: - False Flag Terrorist Attack

False Flag operations are covert operations which are designed to deceive the public in such a way that the operations appear as though they are being carried out by other entities.

The name is derived from the military concept of flying false colours that is, flying the flag of a country other than one's own.

False flag operations are not limited to war and counter-insurgency operations, and have been used in peacetime for example, during Italy's strategy of tension.

Basically there are two ways to pull off a False Flag Terrorist Attack

1) Recruit a small team to carry off the attack, this way is very risky because they leave their fingerprints behind which stand out like dogs balls to experienced researchers and investigators.

The real perpetrators are easier to identify, point out and expose, and makes it easier also to trace back to the higher ups that ordered, sanction the attacks to go ahead. E.G Corrupt Politicians, Military People and Intelligence Chiefs.

2) The other way in which to carry off a False Flag Terrorist Attack is doing it under cover of running some Police, Military Drill this way is more effective, the real perpetrators are harder to identify point out, thus harder to have it traced back to the higher ups the chain who ordered and sanction the attacks.

E.G Corrupt Politicians, Military People and Intelligence Chiefs.

They hide their finger prints within by carrying out the False Flag Attack at the same time, same place as running Police & Military Drills thus hiding out amongst 100's even thousands who are participating in the Drills.

In many cases your really recruiting others in the operation of doing the attacks and little do people realize they have just helped the real perpetrators carry off the attacks and have been the saps.

There is another reason why the real perpetrators carry off attacks at the same time as running drills and that's to stop the countries Police, Military and Intelligence Agencies from fighting back and doing their job from letting these attacks from going ahead.

This is where we catch them every time when doing our research and investigations and how we know something is a False Flag Terrorist Attack they carry them out while running these drills.

The chances of a Terrorist Attack happening at the same time, place as a drill going on is 13 pass a trillion odds of it happening, so coincidence cannot be explained away that easy.

But Corrupt Politicians and Mainstream Zionist Jewish Media try as they do to sell "We The People" some bullshit line that yes it was all just coincidence, and go as far, to call anybody a Conspiracy Theorist and a Terrorist, and un Patriotic if you disagree with them.

The Truth

Remember people if something is The Truth, then when you present all the evidence & proof to the story it will = Truth.

But when you present something which is NOT The Truth, then when you present False – Misleading information, Tainted – Tampered evidence and try to sell it as The Truth it will = Lie.

Some Parrot Talking Head Repeating – The Official Government Line over and over again is NOT Truth, its called brainwashing, cheap mind control to make you believe something which is a Lie is The Truth.

Western and Eastern Mainstream Media today hardly ever investigate a story, or check the facts about a story before telling it.

They just get stories off the World Wire News System then repeat what ever they get off the system as a True Story, without ever checking details or facts of a story.

100's 1000's of times now Mainstream Media have been proven wrong and without even an apology by these News and Current Affairs Shows.

Which can only be viewed as a deliberate attempt to mislead, lie and deceive the viewing audience.

Sit back my friends as you read first hand accounts, reports of the Official Narrative being laid in all newspapers and the 96% controlled Mainstream Media World Wide.

And when the patsy – stooges who they will set up and blame for this comes out by Barrack Obama, FBI, Homeland Security watch the story change from what you read here.

The Official story released by the powers of “B” in America

Question To Ask Yourself

- A) Who Benefits from these Terrorist Attacks?
- B) What agenda's are being pushed in the country and World – Wide
- C) The “Puppets & Clowns” Obama, Gillard, Abbott, Harper, Cameron and so forth put up to run our countries with “NO Policy's” noses in the pigs trough, does it benefit them?

Make a list of questions to ask yourself, then connect the dots and bingo you have the mastermind or at least to say you have somebody very closely connected to this.

- D) And finally what all these “Puppet” Leaders they will all come out repeating the same scripted story backing each other up.

Lastly many, many, many thanks to AAP, Reuters for the pictures lent xoxoxo kisses & hugs, and the other people World wide specially in America who helped to bring you what your about to read soon.

And special thanks to FBI & Homeland Security for training us all about Terrorism and how to detect a terrorist which is (YOU) at present all your reports put out and tips “We The People” World Wide have used for sure in keeping you honest and now catching you out – caught red handed carrying out these attacks.

Boston Marathon explosion live update: Huntsville area runners offer first-hand reports from scene

Taylor said she noticed more of a military presence when the race with 27,000 runners started.

"We noticed that they had military upon the buildings watching," Taylor said. "I wonder if they had had some...that was kind of peculiar to me. That's kind of weird to have military people up there with binoculars before a running event at the start.

"It just didn't look normal. It just didn't look normal."

Boston Marathon explosion live update: Huntsville area runners offer first-hand reports from scene

Updated at 4:37 p.m.: Amy Smith of Monrovia finished the Boston Marathon 26 minutes before the explosions.

She had just picked up her medal and turned around to look for her husband when she saw and heard the blast near the finish line.

"We didn't know if it was natural gas or fireworks," Smith told Huntsville Times/al.com reporter Steve Doyle by phone Monday afternoon.

"It was just a real deep, cannon kind of sound. From where I was standing, there was just this big puff of smoke."

"Everybody stopped and looked up."

In the chaos that followed, Smith said it took about 45 minutes to find her husband, Parker Smith.

The couple has a bird's-eye view of the surreal scene from their hotel room on 27th floor of The Westin Copley Place.

They were also close enough to hear a third explosion that Boston police say occurred at JFK Library.

"We're looking down on a gazillion cop cars and ambulances," said Amy Smith.

Smith, who finished her first Boston Marathon in 3:43:44, said terrorism was not her initial reaction because the mood surrounding the race was so festive all weekend.

The couple planned to eat dinner Monday night at Boston's Union Oyster House to celebrate Amy Smith finishing the race. "I'm not sure if we'll get to go," she said.

"They've shut down all the trains."

Updated at 6:21 p.m. Brandon Mader, 28, and Zach Koch, 27, had finished the race about an hour before the blasts occurred and had just walked into their hotel when they heard what had happened at the finish line.

The former University of Alabama in Huntsville runners were taking part in their first and second Boston Marathons, respectively, Mader told Huntsville Times/al.com reporter Pat Ammons in a phone interview.

Mader said his first reaction on hearing about the was "severe disappointment" that anyone would do something to mar such a special event.

The marathon "is the identity of Boston on the world stage," Mader said.

"To hurt the race, to hurt the city, and, of course, to kill people and hurt people was very disappointing."

Updated at 3 p.m. Suzanne Taylor of Huntsville had just completed her third Boston Marathon when explosions shook the area at the finish line, injuring dozens.

"I had probably crossed the finish line less than five minutes before it happened," Taylor said about 30 minutes after the explosion.

"It just became pure chaos and we had to get out. I had to hurry back to my hotel."

Click here for the latest on the Boston Marathon explosions.

Taylor's voice was still shaking as she spoke.

"Very scary, very scary," she said.

Her husband, Dink, finished the race about an hour before the explosions, Suzanne said.

She spoke from her hotel, which she said was about a mile from the site of the explosions.

"I can feel my phone going off like crazy," she said as other people attempted to reach her by cell phone.

"They're saying it was trash cans. It was just chaos down there. You can hear the fire engines and medical people. It's bad."

Suzanne Taylor hands out flags to participants in the 2010 Cotton Row Run in Huntsville.

According to the Boston Marathon list of entrants on its website, 20 runners from Madison County were participating.

There were five entrants from Lauderdale County, two from Marshall and Morgan counties and one each from Lawrence, Franklin, Limestone and Cullman counties in north Alabama.

Taylor said she had just completed the race and received her medal, a bottle of water and a blanket that all runners get at the end of the race when the explosions happened.

"There were two explosions, one big one and one small one - right after the other," she said.

"At first, we thought it was a compressor. Then everybody started saying it was a bomb.

Everybody just started trying to run. It's hard to run after you run a marathon but there were people rushing to get out of the area.

"When one bomb went off, you didn't know if something else was going to go off."

Taylor said she noticed more of a military presence when the race with 27,000 runners started.

"We noticed that they had military upon the buildings watching," Taylor said.

"I wonder if they had had some...that was kind of peculiar to me. That's kind of weird to have military people up there with binoculars before a running event at the start.

"It just didn't look normal. It just didn't look normal."

Several thousand runners were still on the course, Taylor said, and she estimated there was about a thousand spectators at the finish line when the explosions took place.

"It was very crowded," Taylor said. "It was very, very crowded."

The Boston Marathon's Final Mile Was Dedicated to Newtown Victims

Adding further heartbreak to utter tragedy, the last mile of Monday's Boston Marathon, which was rocked by at least two explosions resulting in an unknown number of injuries and casualties Monday afternoon, was dedicated to the victims of the Sandy Hook Elementary shooting massacre.

Boston Athletic Association president Joanne Flaminio said before the race that had a "special significance" because it was 26.2 miles long and there was 26 victims in the Newtown attack.

There was also a group of Newtown parents running as part of a group called Team Newtown Strong who were raising money for local charities.

A banner honoring the victims, hung at the end of the 26th mile, can be seen in the photo above

"In the first twenty miles we're honoring the twenty Sandy Hook first graders," Laura Nowacki, a spokesperson for Newtown Strong, explained to WBUR Boston.

"When we crest Heartbreak Hill, and we're coming back towards Boston, we run the final six for our six fallen educators, including their lives, to protect our children."

There was a 26-second moment of silence for the victims before the race started.

Update 4:07 p.m.: Newtown families were reportedly seated in the VIP section right by where the explosions went off.

There's no word whether they are among the 23 injured and two dead from the explosions.

Why Was the New York Post the Outlier in Boston Marathon Coverage?

The New York Post is either the most well-sourced newspaper in the country, the luckiest paper in the country, or an awful rag stirring up hate for Muslims.

It depends on who you ask on a wild Monday in Boston, really.

And whether or not they can prove a controversial report is correct.

The Post reported around 4:28 p.m. that a 20-year-old "Saudi national" is "under guard" by police at an undisclosed Boston hospital, according to "law enforcement sources."

They did identify him as a suspect.

They also reported 12 people were killed in the attacks, even though only two victims have been reported by Boston police so far.

Initially, it seemed there wasn't a hope in hell the Post's report was accurate.

A Boston police department spokesperson told Talking Points Memo's Hunter Walker that they didn't know "where [the Post was] getting their information from, but it didn't come from us."

And the news about the Saudi Arabian suspect seemed to infuriate many observers on Twitter.

"Friends: please try to refrain sharing information from NY Post. Great headlines, poor reporting standards," said one. "Remain calm and don't report anything from the NY Post," said another. "Its better to be right than be first."

The New York Post is learning that the hard way today," someone opined.

"The New York Post's writing today has been criminal. Reporting that a Saudi was responsible is yellow journalism at its worst," and so the pile on went.

Others were a bit more measured with their criticism. There is, after all, a chance the Post is right:

The New York Post seems like it's going to either be very right or very, very, very wrong.

— Bruce Arthur (@bruce_arthur) April 15, 2013

No one in custody means no one yet arrested/charged, but NBC and NY Post both reported man under guard at hospital.

— Evan Hill (@evanchill) April 15, 2013

For NY Post Superfan @batemanny: If it comes out in the wash that 12 people were dead and a Saudi was in custody three hours ago, mea culpa.

— Sean Gentile (@seangentile) April 15, 2013

So the Post is either so far ahead of the story the story or wrong in the worst possible way.

The truth likely lies somewhere in the Post's choice of words, as it now seems they may be vindicated in the end.

Reports are still foggy right now, but it seems the Post was more right than wrong about everything.

NBC News is now reporting Boston Police are "guarding" a wounded man at a Boston hospital. CBS' John Miller is also reporting a Saudi national was taken into custody after the bombing.

Miller also said the suspect is denying any involvement with the bombings.

The L.A. Times adds that a Saudi national was taken to a hospital and questioned about the attack, according to federal law enforcement sources.

"The person was not identified as a suspect," they add, though.

Official: Cellphone service shut down in Boston

... or embarrassing photos/videos from getting out and spoiling the official story!

A law enforcement official says cellphone service has been shut down in the Boston area to prevent any potential remote detonations of explosives.

Official: Cellphone service shut down in Boston

Goal was to prevent remote bomb detonations

WASHINGTON —A law enforcement official says cellphone service has been shut down in the Boston area to prevent any potential remote detonations of explosives.

Authorities have not identified what caused the explosives that erupted at the finish line of the Boston Marathon.

The official was speaking on condition of anonymity because the investigation was ongoing.

The explosions have killed two people and injured at least 23 others.

FAA orders no-fly zone over Boston explosion site

The Federal Aviation Administration is warning pilots that it has created a no-fly zone over the site of two explosions at the annual Boston marathon.

The agency said in a notice issued Monday about an hour after the explosions that a no-fly zone with a 3.5-mile radius has been created over 811 Boylston St.

FAA orders no-fly zone over Boston explosion site

3.5 miles radius set up around Boylston Street

WASHINGTON —The Federal Aviation Administration created a no-fly zone over the site of two explosions at the annual Boston marathon on Monday, and briefly ordered flights bound for Boston's Logan International Airport held on the ground at airports around the country.

- Marathon Blasts
 - FAA orders no-fly zone over Boston... 19min
 - Official: Cellphone service shut down...
 - Dept. of Homeland Security providing... 2hr
 - Obama: Pray for the people of Boston 2min
 - Dramatic video shows second explosion... 2hr

- Witness: Blood everywhere, horrific...
- Patrick: Boston victim of 'horrific... 2hr
- Fire, smoke at JFK Library 2hr
- Runners, specators react to explosions
- Explosions erupt at Marathon finish...

About an hour after the explosions the FAA issued a notice to pilots that a no-fly zone with a 3.5-mile radius has been created over 811 Boylston St.

The zone was later reduced in a subsequent notice to a 2.3-mile radius.

The zone is limited to flights under 3,000 feet in altitude, which is lower than most airliners would fly except when taking off or landing.

The no-fly zone was effective immediately, and will remain in effect until further notice, the agency said. Pilots planning flights are urged to call their local flight service station.

In order to prevent planes from violating the no-fly zone, the FAA briefly held planes bound for Logan around the country on the ground while air traffic procedures at the airport were reconfigured to bring planes in from the northeast and send them out to the southeast over Boston Harbor.

Security for outbound international flights at Logan has been stepped up in the wake of the bombings, federal law enforcement officials said.

Numerous runners were expected to leave Boston after race, and the additional security has been added as a precaution, they said.

The officials requested anonymity because they weren't authorized to speak publicly.

Transportation officials at airports and train stations around the country also reported stepped up security.

In Washington, transit officials said in a Twitter message they knew of no specific or credible threat to the city's subway system, but "extra officers are on duty for increased security" anyway.

It was the same case in New Jersey, where the state's transit agency said it was in operating "a state of heightened alert."

"While there has been no specific threat made to our transit system at this time, NJ Transit police have deployed both uniformed and plain clothed officers to further patrol our system and keep our customers safe," the agency said in a statement.

So who is planting stories of a Saudi suspect?

Is planting stories to link the bombing with the Saudis tells us for certain this is a false-flag operation.

A spokesperson for the Boston Police Department said no suspects have been taken into custody yet after the bombing at the Boston Marathon.

"At this time, we haven't been notified of any arrests or anyone apprehended," the spokesperson said.

The New York Post reported that a "Saudi national who suffered shrapnel wounds in today's blast" has been identified as "a suspect in the Boston Marathon bombing." The Boston PD spokesperson did not confirm that report.

"Honestly, I don't know where they're getting their information from, but it didn't come from us," said the spokesperson.

"Honestly, I don't know where they're getting their information from, but it didn't come from us," said the spokesperson.

The Post report was attributed to "a law enforcement source." According to the Post, the "suspect" is "currently being guarded in a Boston hospital."

Update (5:27 PM): A spokesperson with the FBI's national press office in Washington DC declined to comment when asked about reports a suspect or person of interest had been identified in the bombings.

Update (5:39 PM): NBC News is also reporting there is a "possible suspect" being guarded at a Boston hospital.

After that report, a spokesperson for the Boston Police Department reiterated that they had "no confirmation" of any possible suspect in custody.

"They didn't obtain that information from us," the spokesperson said of the NBC report.

Update (6:06 PM): At a press conference, Boston police commissioner Edward Davis said reports of a suspect under guard at a hospital were "not true."

Eyewitness: Authorities Announced "Drill" Before Boston Explosions

An eyewitness to the two explosions at the Boston Marathon today said that a "drill" was repeatedly announced before the bombs exploded and that he "thought it was odd" bomb sniffing dogs were in place before the blast.

University of Mobile's Cross Country Coach Ali Stevenson told Local 15 News, "They kept making announcements on the loud speaker that it was just a drill and there was nothing to worry about.

"It seemed like there was some sort of threat, but they kept telling us it was just a drill."

The news station also reports that Stevenson "thought it was odd there were bomb sniffing dogs at the start and finish lines."

The news station also reports that Stevenson “thought it was odd there were bomb sniffing dogs at the start and finish lines.”

Stevenson then describes hearing the explosions as he ran away from the scene, having just completed the marathon.

If this report is accurate, it clearly suggests there could have been some degree of prior knowledge of the bombing, which killed two people and injured at least 23.

The fact that the explosions were preceded and overlapped by a “drill” of an almost identical nature mirrors other major terror attacks, such as the 7/7 bombings in London.

It is important to emphasize that the New York Times recently reported that most of the recent domestic terror plots in the United States “were facilitated by the F.B.I.,” suggesting that today’s incident in Boston may have been part of such an operation.

It remains to be seen how the media and the Obama administration will exploit this incident depending who gets the blame, but Rahm Emanuel’s “never let a serious crisis go to waste” advisory is sure to be in play.

More on this story as it develops.....

ABC NEWS just confirmed that a person of interest is being held at the hospital. 6:02 pm - George Stephanopoulos confirmation.

Apparently he is unconscious at the moment - This seems to be the source for the earlier report from the NY Post that a Saudi National as in custody at a local hospital.

UPDATE 6:38 PM

NBC BREAKING: Boston PD are 'guarding' a wounded man...

Boston marathon bombing happened on same day as 'controlled explosion' drill by Boston bomb squad

What's not yet being reported by the mainstream media is that a "controlled explosion" was under way on the same day as the marathon explosion.

As the Boston Globe tweeted today, "Officials: There will be a controlled explosion opposite the library within one minute as part of bomb squad activities."

Some people believe this explosion might have been part of the demolition of another bomb.

It seems unlikely, however, that a bomb at the library, one mile away, could be so quickly located and rigged to be exploded by the bomb squad in less than one hour following the initial explosions at the marathon.

Boston marathon bombing happened on same day as 'controlled explosion' drill by Boston bomb squad

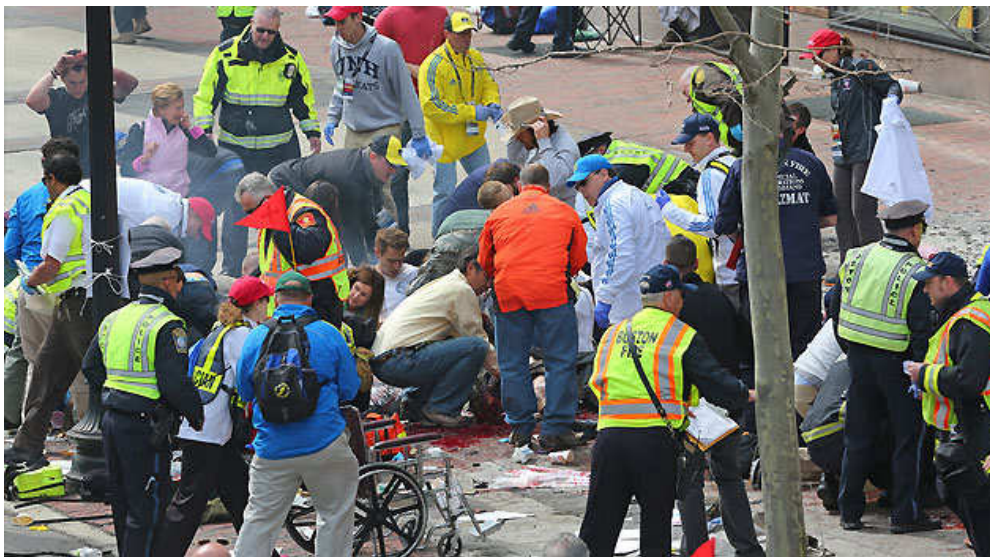

Two bombs have rocked the streets of Boston and reportedly injured 22 marathon runners (two have reportedly died).

It's too early to know the cause of these explosions, but you can rest assured both the state and federal government will try to use this tragic event to blame whatever convenient enemies are most advantageous for the government.

No one has yet stepped forward to claim responsibility for the bombs, and the fact that no firearms were used in the attack may indicate this was NOT part of a false flag effort by the government to try to blame gun owners.

(But it's still way too early to tell...)

Here at Natural News, we are horrified at this loss of innocent life, and we are praying for the victims of this bombing as well as their families.

Bomb squad was running “controlled explosion” on the same day

What’s not yet being reported by the mainstream media is that a “controlled explosion” was under way on the same day as the marathon explosion.

As the Boston Globe tweeted today, “Officials: There will be a controlled explosion opposite the library within one minute as part of bomb squad activities.”

Some people believe this explosion might have been part of the demolition of another bomb.

It seems unlikely, however, that a bomb at the library, one mile away, could be so quickly located and rigged to be exploded by the bomb squad in less than one hour following the initial explosions at the marathon.

Bloomberg news is now saying, “This is very likely a terrorist attack.”

The question is: Who are the terrorists?

It’s far too early to take an informed guess on all this.

However, it is indisputable that the FBI is actively engaged in carrying out bomb plots in the United States, then halting them at the last minute to “catch the terrorists.”

This fact has been covered by the New York Times, among other publications.

FBI ‘entrapment’ tactics questioned in web of phony terror plots and paid informants.

Keep in mind I am in no way blaming the FBI for this. Most men and women who work with the FBI are upstanding citizens who would be appalled at such acts.

But it is theoretically possible that one of the FBI’s many “terror plots” went too far and turned into a live bomb instead of a dud followed by an arrest for “domestic terrorism.”

For the record, the explosions seemed relatively small for a false flag, and most false flags target children in order to maximize the emotional leverage after the event.

That these explosions did not target children is yet more evidence that it may not have been a false flag at all.

Either way, terrorism always works in the favor of the state.

It makes presidents look presidential, and it gives the government an excuse to crack down on civil liberties all across the country.

Be wary of who ultimately gets blamed for this, especially if it's a veteran or patriot.

False Flag Terror Federal Reserve Bank Bomb Plot Run By the FBI

FBI once again controls entire terror plot, actual attack never a possibility

October 17, 2012

A 21-year-old Bangladeshi national has been arrested after he apparently attempted to detonate a bomb outside the Manhattan Federal Reserve.

"Agents grabbed the 21-year-old Nafis — armed with a cellphone he believed was rigged as a detonator — after he made several attempts to blow up the bomb inside a vehicle parked next to the Federal Reserve," reported the NY Post.

Sticking to a now utterly predictable narrative, the man never actually posed a threat to any building or person due to the fact that the FBI themselves had given him the bomb.

That's right, the corporate media and the government are now having a hay day, once again promoting the terrorist narrative and drumming up sympathy for the privately run Federal Reserve, even as they openly continue their destruction of America.

Authorities emphasized that the plot never posed an actual risk.

However, they claimed the case demonstrated the value of using sting operations to neutralize young extremists eager to harm Americans.

Corporate media reports and statements by government and law enforcement officials paint a picture of a man hell bent on the destruction of America.

Sadly, the American people simply have no legitimate reason to believe anything that the corporate media or government claims, especially when it has to do with terrorism which has historically been used to further restrict the freedoms of everyday Americans nationwide.

Whether or not Nafis would have actually carried out any sort of attack if he was not lead on by the FBI remains unknown at this time.

What is known is that the FBI has staged literally dozens of "pretend" terror plots where their actions and help were the only reason that the supposed terrorist even had a chance to do any harm whatsoever.

In 2011, Mother Jones began to release a series of award winning reports that conclusively proved that the FBI essentially hatches almost ALL terror plots in the US.

A subsequent article by RT summed up the facts perfectly.

"The report reveals that the FBI regularly infiltrates communities where they suspect terrorist-minded individuals to be engaging with others.

Regardless of their intentions, agents are sent in to converse within the community, find suspects that could potentially carry out "lone wolf" attacks and then, more or less, encourage them to do so.

By providing weaponry, funds and a plan, FBI-directed agents will encourage otherwise-unwilling participants to plot out terrorist attacks, only to bust them before any events fully materialize."

In another report also in the Mother Jones series, the top 6 terror patsies and their ridiculous stories are revealed.

The supposed terrorists range from literally broke losers and wannabe ninjas to big talkers who would most likely have little to no chance of pulling off any sort of attack without direct help from authorities.

Broke-ass losers.

Big talkers.

Ninja wannabes.

How dangerous are the FBI's sting targets?

The corporate media is also claiming that the supposed Federal Reserve bomb plot mastermind may have links to al Qaeda terror networks in the middle east.

"The defendant "reported having connections" to al Qaeda, prosecutors said.

But there was no allegation that he received training or direction from the terrorist group.

Nafis was living in Queens," reported CBS.

This has to be confusing to most Americans considering that for the last 6 months this same group of corrupt corporate media networks has promoted the US governments direct support of al Qaeda insurgents in Libya and Syria.

Basically, the American people are expected to be so stupid that on one hand they are supposed to be scared of the attempted bombing of a Federal Reserve building by al Qaeda while at the same time supporting them in at least two other nations.

We most likely will never know whether or not Nafis was what we would call a real terrorist but, regardless of this, the fact remains that the government has a long history of supporting al Qaeda on one hand and staging terror plots to be blamed on them on the other.

It is also important to mention that when the NYPD police chief goes on national TV, completely ignoring the fact that the FBI has ran almost every terror plot since 9/11, and claims that the threat to New York will be there for years to come, he is doing this because his JOB and his police forces Orwellian and ridiculous police actions are on the line.

If the American people as a whole knew that most if not all the police state security measures that have been taken to supposedly thwart terror attacks were actually being set up to control everyday Americans, the backlash would be severe and instant.

Boston Marathin: Gun Grabbers Looking for a Scapegoat to Advance Tyranny Unraveling?

So who is acting like the terrorist?

There are no evidence patriots; veteran and gun owners are committing violence against innocent people.

So why do the people who love liberty and who demonstrate self reliance pose a threat to the political establishment?

It is because they are honorable and have no reason to attack the opposition without provocation.

It seems like the US government is using terrorism to scare the people into surrendering their freedoms or to advance a political agenda.

DHS head Napolitano said if her budget was cut due to the sequester.

There will be terrorist attacks.

As it looks the US government fingerprints are all over this one.

They are now speechless because they have lost the narrative and now it looks like is starting to backfire.

Boston Marathin: Gun Grabbers Looking for a Scapegoat to Advance Tyranny Unraveling?

We can see now the gun grabber are acting in desperation to pin the blame on the bombing of the Boston marathon based on the color of a person's skin to blame it on white Americans and gun owners.

The authoritarian's backs are up against the wall and they are dangerous.

The bombing of the Boston Marathon shows they are in desperation to gain traction to come after the guns.

The Propaganda hype from TV shows demonizing the veterans, Tea Party, libertarians, gun owners, Christians and anyone who opposes the Obama administration is in full bore to create an enemy with no evidence proven to be violent.

Do the gun grabbers know those shooter involved were leftist on psychotropic drugs have been the culprits killing children and unarmed people in gun free zones.

Who has the motive and who stand the gain?

The definition of Terrorism is:

The use of violence and threats to intimidate or coerce, especially for political purposes.

The state of fear and submission produced by terrorism or terrorization.

So who is acting like the terrorist?

There are no evidence patriots; veteran and gun owners are committing violence against innocent people.

So why do the people who love liberty and who demonstrate self reliance pose a threat to the political establishment?

It is because they are honorable and have no reason to attack the opposition without provocation.

It seems like the US government is using terrorism to scare the people into surrendering their freedoms or to advance a political agenda.

DHS head Napolitano said if her budget was cut due to the sequester.

There will be terrorist attacks.

As it looks the US government fingerprints are all over this one.

They are now speechless because they have lost the narrative and now it looks like is starting to backfire.

You look at TV shows and propaganda demonizing good Americans as the enemy is because the other side is looking for an excuse to confiscate the guns and mass arrest the people who oppose the Globalist front man President Barrack Obama's socialist and fascist agenda.

Hollywood, the Main Stream Media and Television networks are colluding together to try to establish the narrative so they have a scapegoat for the Boston Marathon Bombing.

Now with the new footage and pictures showing it as a government operation.

The operation has been an exposed as a false flag event to blame it on the Political enemies.

The real culprits have been exposed.

Now that new footage taken by people with cameras and new footage exposes the operative involved in a drill prior to the explosion.

The narrative is using white Christian gun owners has been discredited.

The behavior of the government shows they have motive to carry out the attack and blame it on their enemies.

The Globalist is so desperate to grab the guns because they need our pension funds.

The want to loot our bank accounts to bail out the Bankers.

They want our gold because the Private Central bank called the Federal Reserve does not have the gold on deposit.

They cannot enforce UN Agenda 21 with rolling black outs.

The US government is in a stalemate because the people are well armed.

They can probe the weak spots. But going out doing a mass arrest relocating people into FEMA camps will be hard for them to carry out.

They will face a fierce opposition.

This could be the final straw of the power structure. The whole US government will collapse as a result. Everyone sees the official story as hogwash.

The majority of the American people see the US government as a threat to freedom and the security of the people.

No one believes What the US government lies anymore.

This might cause the US government to implode.

Let just hope it happens peaceful with little bloodshed.

Boston Marathon Bombing an Inside Job as an Attempt to Discredit the Opposition?

I was suspicious hearing about the bombing at the finish line at the Boston Marathon from a breaking news flash.

A red flag has gone up in my head. Before I explain why, I want to get you up to speed on a few things.

First we have to ask is, who stands to gain from the dead and the maimed. We have to see who has been demonizing what group as terrorist.

Boston Marathon Bombing an Inside Job as an Attempt to Discredit the Opposition?

I was suspicious hearing about the bombing at the finish line at the Boston Marathon from a breaking news flash.

A red flag has gone up in my head. Before I explain why, I want to get you up to speed on a few things.

First we have to ask is, who stands to gain from the dead and the maimed.

We have to see who has been demonizing what group as terrorist.

Do not forget who President Obama's mentor is.

Does anyone know who Bill Ayers is?

Well before Obama ever served in public office as a state senator.

I am talking before he was a community organizer or agitator in Chicago.

Barrack Obama was living with Bill Ayers.

Bill Ayers was part of the Weatherman underground responsible for terrorist attacks nationwide in the late 1960s and the 1970s.

Barrack Obama was well trained by Bill Ayers and the Weather underground to carry out attacks in an attempt to destabilize the nation.

The United State Government has been behind false flag attacks.

Operation Gladio, Operation North woods and Operation Ajax all designed to destabilize the nation to over throw the government through bombings and blaming it on the leader.

President Obama is no different.

He is behind Operation Fast and Furious shipping guns to Mexican cartels cause the border town to be unstable with violence to blame it on Americans gun owners and the right to keep and bear arms.

That has failed and is now a full blown scandal that can bring down the Obama administration.

We cannot forget the attack on the US consulate in Benghazi, Libya where military personal were ordered to stand down instead of coming to the aid to the US facility under attack.

President Obama does have blood on his hands with false flag attacks.

President Obama does have a formidable opposition of Americans arming themselves to the Teeth.

Obama and the Political establishment are desperate to neutralize and demonize their opposition at all cost.

He is desperate to find a way to discredit his real opposition or he falls.

From the shootings of US Representative Gabriel Giffords, the movie theater in Aurora Colorado, Sandy Hook in Connecticut.

They have tried to demonize the gun owners and patriots as the reason for the violence.

The effort to demonize the Patriots, Veterans, gun owners, and the Christians has the lowest crime rates being upstanding people.

The other side is gearing up and hyping them as the threat through network news and TV programming trying to portray these non violent groups as the enemy.

That is not working well.

The reason why these groups are portrayed as the enemy of the state because they are good people standing with the truth threatens the corrupt establishment.

These people who love liberty have the resources money can not buy that can discredit the President and take him down.

These groups are having an effect influencing the Military and law enforcement at all level to question the upper leadership and their orders given.

The opposition has been effective throwing a monkey wrench in the tyrannical machine.

Now the red flags I see. Since this bombing at the Boston marathon has happened.

I know they are looking for some way to blame it on Obama's political enemies. What I see is at the finish line looks like an inside job.

First there is so many cameras and media presence at the finish line.

Second the Bomb squad had the bomb sniffing dogs saying "this is a drill please be calm" Third Boston and the state of Massachusetts is Police State central occupied by the most authoritarian people in office.

This shows Obama has many collaborators inside the City and State government to help carry out an operation.

There was a Police Presence around the finish line, how could they have missed it?

Fourth, why were there very little people around the explosion?

There was not a crowd of people around the finish line. Anyone would figure there would be so much more people near the finish line seeing the runners finish the race.

Its smells like an inside job.

This bombing most likely could not happen unless there is help from the inside in an area that is secured.

Who stands to gain from this incident?

It is the US government who stands to grab more power as an excuse.

They want a further police state with check points and the further elimination of our rights in the name of keeping us safe.

They need an enemy to justify tyranny in the name of keep us safe.

When you look at the underwear bomber that boarded a plane without a passport guided around security with a government operative was used as the excuse to put full body scanners and groping at the airports.

That was a government operation start to finish.

When we look at the various FBI stings where they recruited a disgruntled person low IQ.

They gave the cash and fake explosives to carry out a terrorist attack.

They FBI control the operation start to finish posing as the saviors to justify their existence.

The American people no longer trust the US government.

The people no longer buy the official story of the JFK assassination with the Warren report or the official story September 11 with the 9-11 commission report.

The Official story what happened at the Branch Davidian church and the Oklahoma City Bombing has been discredited.

The US government wants to escalate a crisis as an excuse for mass arrest and gun confiscation to suspend the Constitution and bring in a Dictatorship.

They need an enemy to go after.

They will stage bombings and blame it on their political enemies.

They play dirty and do not play fair.

We have to keep exposing the government using false flag events to advance their own gain for power at the expense of the people.

This bombing was not done in a vacuum.

A lot of people are watching and asking questions.

We must be the people who will be the watchmen on the wall, if we do not the terrorist in government win.

We have to shake of the fear and stand our ground

Rolling Stone: Inside The FBI Plot Against Occupy

Flashback from this Fall.

More evidence that the FBI always seems to be involved in these bombings.

All terror attacks are psyops

Whether the Boston Marathon murders were staged as a false flag, and if so, by whom, there are certainly contradictions in the media story line so far.

Mike Adams, at natural news, has pointed out several key absurdities in the official scenario, including the apparent controlled demolition of a bomb at the JFK library, a mile away from the explosions at the Marathon finish line.

This demolition, unreported by the press, was mentioned just before it took place, by a Boston Globe tweet: "There will be a controlled explosion opposite the library within one minute as part of bomb squad activities."

All terror attacks are psyops

Whether the Boston Marathon murders were staged as a false flag, and if so, by whom, there are certainly contradictions in the media story line so far.

Mike Adams, at natural news, has pointed out several key absurdities in the official scenario, including the apparent controlled demolition of a bomb at the JFK library, a mile away from the explosions at the Marathon finish line.

This demolition, unreported by the press, was mentioned just before it took place, by a Boston Globe tweet: "There will be a controlled explosion opposite the library within one minute as part of bomb squad activities."

The demolition would have taken place about an hour after the two explosions at the Marathon finish line, which means the bomb squad was able to find the Library device, rig it for demolition, and blow it up in record time.

Whatever the cause of the fire/explosion in the Library, that "incendiary device" was spent, and the bomb squad found another unexploded bomb on the premises.

The exterior of the building, at the employee's entrance, shows blackened walls.

If the “electrical fire” or the “incendiary device” caused this damage, the room in the Library where the fire or explosion took place must have been just inside the building.

No media sources are specifically reporting that, which seems quite odd.

The press is merely stating there was a fire in a room in the Library.

The fact that the fire was quite close to an entrance certainly rates a mention.

It adds juicy media drama to the report.

But there is no coverage of the fact.

All terror attacks, no matter who launches them, have a psychology.

They have a purpose.

Inducing fear, of course. Causing the public to give in to a new set of “security regulations,” which tighten the screws on freedom, of course.

Painting some designated group as heinous, of course.

The third Monday in April, is Patriot’s Day.

It commemorates the April 19, 1775, opening battles in the Revolutionary War against England, at Lexington and Concord.

Previously celebrated on April 19th, it is also the anniversary of the Oklahoma City Bombing (1995), and the final FBI attack on the Waco, Texas, Branch Davidian compound that killed 76 men, women, and children (1993). April 15 is also tax day.

So some media commentators are already opining that “anti-tax-pro-patriot-anti-government” persons are behind the Boston murders.

At an elite level, where psyop research is conducted, the psychology of terror attacks involves disrupting the normal perception of reality.

Most people live their days in a more or less steady state of mind.

They perform routine tasks over and over.

They see their daily environment as quite familiar.

All this produces what could be called a light trance.

If that seems improbable, notice what happens when something completely unexpected intrudes on habitual perception and experience. Shock is what happens.

It's as if the person had been sleeping and suddenly and forcibly wakes up.

On a quiet residential street, a car plows into a lamp post. On a peaceful boulevard, a gust of wind blows a sign from its hinges into a store window, smashing it.

People are shocked. They look up.

“Wow. Where was I?”

Yes, it's like waking from a dream.

Multiply that effect by a thousand. Bombs go off.

The sounds of the explosions, the shock waves, people falling, people bleeding, grotesque injuries, death.

In the space of a few seconds, and on a street where nothing ever happens.

And one layer removed from this, the world watches it unfold on television.

It's a rip in the fabric of perceived reality. Right now.

Retired psyop planner, Ellis Medavoy (pseudonym), told me in a 2002 interview: "People think it's very esoteric to talk about disruption in the space-time wave.

But setting up certain psyops is very much about that.

The theory of these operations has everything to do with the fact that people exist in an average and consistent space-time wave.

They become used to that.

They're not even aware of it.

So a psyop can go two ways. It can encourage that form of sleep, to make it continue.

Or it can blow people right out of their wave into something that's very disorienting.

"In the latter case, you're forcing people out of their average perception of space and time, but you're not giving them anything to replace it.

They're hanging in a void, so to speak.

What's the result?

People desperately want a resolution of the psyop, so they can return to their former continuum.

And because they feel desperate, they'll take whatever and whoever you give them.

You can say a deer chewed on a power cable and blew out the power for the entire east coast for a week, and they'll believe you.

And that's what you want.

The ability to say anything and have people believe you."

I asked Medavoy if this included peppering the public with contradictions in the official account of a terrorist attack.

"Of course," he said. "They'll overlook those contradictions.

They won't pay any attention to them.

They're so panicked, they just want a resolution.

You can plug in anybody as the guilty party, and they'll buy it."

Later in the conversation, I went back to the subject of the “space-time wave.”

Medavoy said: “The psychology on this is clear.

An overwhelming percentage of people deal with space-time in a passive way.

They receive it, so to speak.

They are presented with that fundament of reality and they blindly accept it.

Therefore, when you take it away, they’re lost.

A tiny percentage of the population, those who are intensely creative, react differently.

That’s because they are, in a real sense, projecting their own space and time.”

Psyops planners who stage events are aware of these factors.

They want to create a world, a picture of a world, that is in dangerous flux and absolutely requires our “leaders” to stop that flux.

One of my more vivid experiences of this came in the mid-1980s.

I was interviewing a relative of a soldier who died in Vietnam.

When the subject of whether the war was justified came up, he flew off the handle.

He went into a towering rage.

The fact that his cousin had been killed there automatically made the war a necessary policy of the government, a correct action.

That conclusion stopped the unbearable flux for him. Otherwise, he was lost.

It was, of course, that way on 9/11, too, and in many other such instances.

There is a psychology operating here, and it isn't merely some academic brand of nonsense.

It cuts to the heart of how people literally exist in reality, and how it affects their deep response to events managed by professionals, who understand that psychology.

SEALS spotted at Marathon Bombing

These guys are in uniform and have communication devices they are using.

Sometimes when an exercise is going on if you are wearing the appropriate disguise you don't stand out.

After all they were holding a training exercise. Look official.

Nor do you run and attract attention.

You walk slowly away and you don't look anybody directly in the eye and you hope your timers are accurate.

By the way...that logo could be for Blackwater not the SEALs!

Looks like another false flag to me and a really sloppy one.

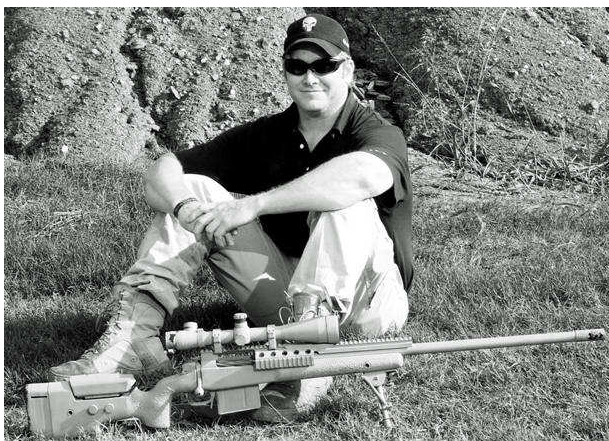

These guys today aren't Wild Bill Donovan or Frank Wisner you know!

Navy SEALs Spotted at Boston Marathon Wearing Suspicious Backpacks?

Savvy Internet sleuths have found images taken from surveillance cameras of members of the crowd gathered at the Boston Marathon that appear to identify Navy SEALs.

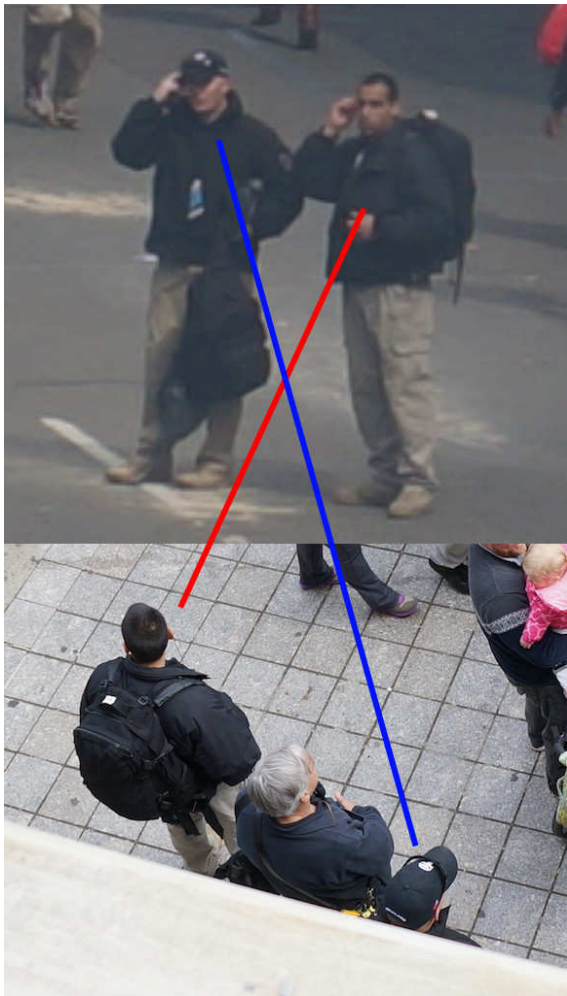

For comparison, below are a few photos of late Navy SEAL Chris Kyle.

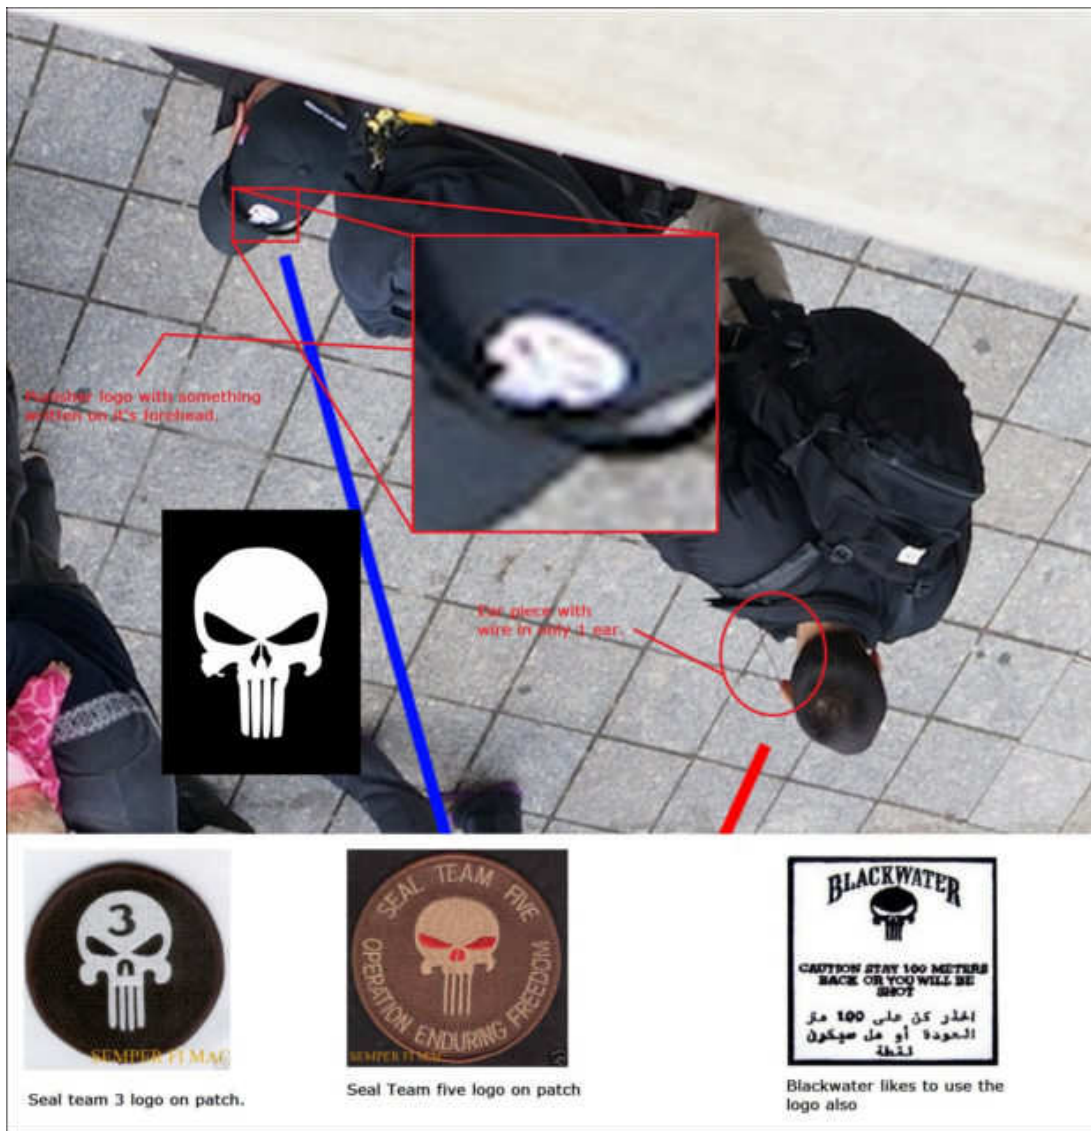

Note the skull logo on his baseball cap, his pants and his boots

Now look at the individuals spotted wearing backpacks, a similar cap, and similar pants (and boots)

A video on Youtube also appears to capture a member wearing similar garb walking around the marathon post-explosion with something that looks like a detonator, but in actuality could be a radiation detector.

The reason this is important is because the Boston Police Commissioner is on record stating that they had “no specific intelligence” that there was a drill, while University of Mobile coach and marathon participant Alastair Stevenson has publicly stated that there was announcements telling people to stay calm and not be alarmed because beefed-up security was part of a “training exercise.”

If police were aware of a perceived threat, wouldn't it make more sense to be announcing an evacuation order rather than tell everyone to stay calm?

Boston official video footage shows bomb suspect

In what could be major break in the Boston Marathon case, investigators are on the hunt for a man seen in a department store surveillance video dropping off a bag at the site of the bombings, a local politician said Wednesday.

Separately, a law enforcement official confirmed that authorities have found an image of a potential suspect but don't know his name.

The development — less than 48 hours after the attack, which left three people dead and more than 170 wounded — marked a possible turning point in a case that has investigators analyzing photos and videos frame by frame for clues to who carried out the twin bombings and why.

City Council President Stephen Murphy, who said he was briefed by Boston police, said investigators saw the image on surveillance footage they got from a department store near the finish line and matched the findings with witness descriptions of someone leaving the scene.

"I know it's very active and very fluid right now — that they are on the chase," Murphy said. He added: "They may be on the verge of arresting someone, and that's good."

The bombs were crudely fashioned from ordinary kitchen pressure cookers packed with explosives, nails and ball bearings, investigators and others close to the case said.

Investigators suspect the devices were then hidden in black duffel bags and left on the ground.

As a result, they were looking for images of someone lugging a dark, heavy bag.

One department store video "has confirmed that a suspect is seen dropping a bag near the point of the second explosion and heading off," Murphy said.

A law enforcement official who was not authorized to discuss the case publicly and spoke to

The Associated Press on the condition of anonymity confirmed only that investigators had an image of a potential suspect whose name was not known to them and who had not been questioned.

Several media outlets reported that a suspect had been identified from surveillance video taken at a Lord & Taylor department store between the sites of the bomb blasts.

The turn of events came with Boston in a state of high excitement over conflicting reports of a breakthrough.

A law enforcement official briefed on the investigation told the AP around midday that a suspect was in custody.

The official, who was not authorized to divulge details of the investigation and spoke on the condition of anonymity, said the suspect was expected in federal court. But the FBI and the U.S. attorney's office in Boston said no arrests had been made.

By nightfall, there was no evidence anyone was in custody.

No one was taken to court.

The law enforcement official, who had affirmed there was a suspect in custody even after federal officials denied it, was unable to obtain any further information or explanation.

At least 14 bombing victims, including three children, remained in critical condition.

Dozens of victims have been released from hospitals, and officials at three hospitals that treated some of the most seriously injured said they expected all their remaining patients to survive.

A 2-year-old boy with a head injury was improving and might go home Thursday, Boston Children's Hospital said.

On Wednesday, investigators in white jumpsuits fanned out across the streets, rooftops and awnings around the blast site in search of clues.

They picked through trash cans, plastic cup sleeves and discarded sports drink dispensers.

Boston remained under a heavy security presence, and some people admitted they were nervous about moving about in public spaces.

Tyler King, a personal trainer from Attleboro who works in Boston, said four of five clients canceled on him a day earlier because they were worried about venturing into the city.

He took the train in, but "I kind of kept my head on a swivel."

Kenya Nadry, a website designer, took her 5-year-old nephew to a playground.

"There's still some sense of fear, but I feel like Boston's resilient," she said. "The fine men in blue will take care of a lot of it."

Police were stationed on street corners across downtown Boston, while National Guardsmen set up tents on the Boston Common and stationed tactical vehicles.

Dr. Horacio Hojman, associate chief of trauma at Tufts Medical Center, said patients were in surprisingly good spirits when they were brought in.

"Despite what they witnessed, despite what they suffered, despite many of them having life-threatening injuries, their spirits were not broken," he said.

"And I think that should probably be the message for all of us — that this horrible act of terror will not bring us down."

President Barack Obama and his challenger in the last election, former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney, planned to visit Boston on Thursday to attend a service honoring the victims.

The blasts killed 8-year-old Martin Richard, of Boston, and 29-year-old Krystle Campbell, of Medford.

The Shenyang Evening News, a state-run Chinese newspaper, identified the third victim as Lu Lingzi, a graduate student at Boston University.

12.27pm Several people, including children and the elderly are believed to be trapped in buildings after a massive explosion at a fertiliser plant in Waco, Texas.

Multiple ambulances are on the scene with several people injured after a nursing home and apartment building were affected by the blast.

Authorities are reportedly going door-to-door to check on residents after several buildings were either destroyed or damaged.

Emergency crews from surrounding areas have been called to the scene.

"We've got a lot of buildings on fire, we still have people trapped in an apartment building and possibly in a rest home," and emergency services operator said.

"We got reports of two kids on the second floor, about 50 foot from the north end," another emergency worker said.

It is believed they were talking about the apartment building.

"My husband and I were cleaning up the kitchen after supper, and heard what we thought was someone running into our house.

It shook our windows and doors.

We immediately ran outside looking for the worst," one witness told KWTX News.

Another witness, Gulf war veteran Paul L. Manigrasso told KWTX he felt the blast in Waxahachie.

"Based on my Naval experience...we knew immediately what it was, but cannot believe it occurred 40 miles away," he said.

FBI Ignores Men With Backpacks At Scene of Boston Bombings

The FBI has attempted to blacklist photos which show men working for a private military organization wearing heavy backpacks and appearing to take part in a drill at the Boston Marathon, instead focusing on two other individuals while proclaiming, "other photos will not be deemed credible."

As Infowars has documented over the last two days, photos taken from the scene of the blast show numerous individuals wearing identical clothing while carrying heavy black backpacks, talking into cellphones and in one case placing one of the backpacks on the ground.

It turns out the Mississippi man who allegedly sent ricin poison-tainted letters to both President Obama and Sen. Roger Wicker (R-MS) has quite a history... as an Elvis impersonator.

Paul Kevin Curtis, who authorities announced had been arrested for the suspicious mailings last night, has been performing under the stage name "KC" for years, portraying not only Elvis Presley, but also Johnny Cash, Jon Bon Jovi and more.

Those initials, KC, were a key clue in the FBI's swift investigation, given that Curtis signed his letters with these words: "I am KC and I approve this message."

Curtis' YouTube channel features grainy video of his various performances, dating back to an particularly awkward version of Prince's "Little Red Corvette" from a high school classroom in May 2009. But the Elvis impression stands out among the rest—the King was clearly the star of Curtis' repertoire. You can watch Curtis in action as Elvis below, during a 2009 "Tribute to the Stars" concert in Booneville, MS.

Who were the "Black and Tans" in Boston?

The FBI, Boston Police and Massachusetts State Police are working at a frenzied pace to track down who is responsible for Monday's Boston Marathon bombings.

The Internet is also doing its investigative thing.

Specifically, a 4Chan Think Tank purports to have isolated a possible suspect or suspects using images taken around the time of Monday's tragic blast.

The corporate media and FBI are waving yet more blurring photos and videos before us as suspects in the Boston Bombing.

Certainly, by announcing they have an ID in the media before they have arrested the suspect, the suspect(s) will be alerted and likely be headed for the border!

This reads more like a scripted TV show than real life.

No doubt, following their arrests, they will confess their membership in a grand nation-wide underground terror plot amongst white, gun-loving, gay-hating, Constitution-kissing, Federal Reserve hating, christian conservative patriots, supplied with bomb-making materials by Iran via North Korea!

The following clip was shown on TV news and websites (like Alex Jones') claiming that the highlighted man was a suspect, seen fleeing the scene of the bombing. I don't know about you, but if I planted a bomb, I would leave before it detonated.

UPDATE: DOJ is now saying there has been no arrest and there is no suspect.

UPDATE 2: The person identified as a potential suspect in the photo above, wearing black jacket, tan slacks and boots, is part of a larger group all dressed the same.

In the wider view, it is clear this is after the bombing. But they are not helping the victims, nor searching for clues. Although dressed in uniform, they show no insignia at all, not even for police or fire department. And they seem to be wearing the same backpacks used to conceal the bombs.

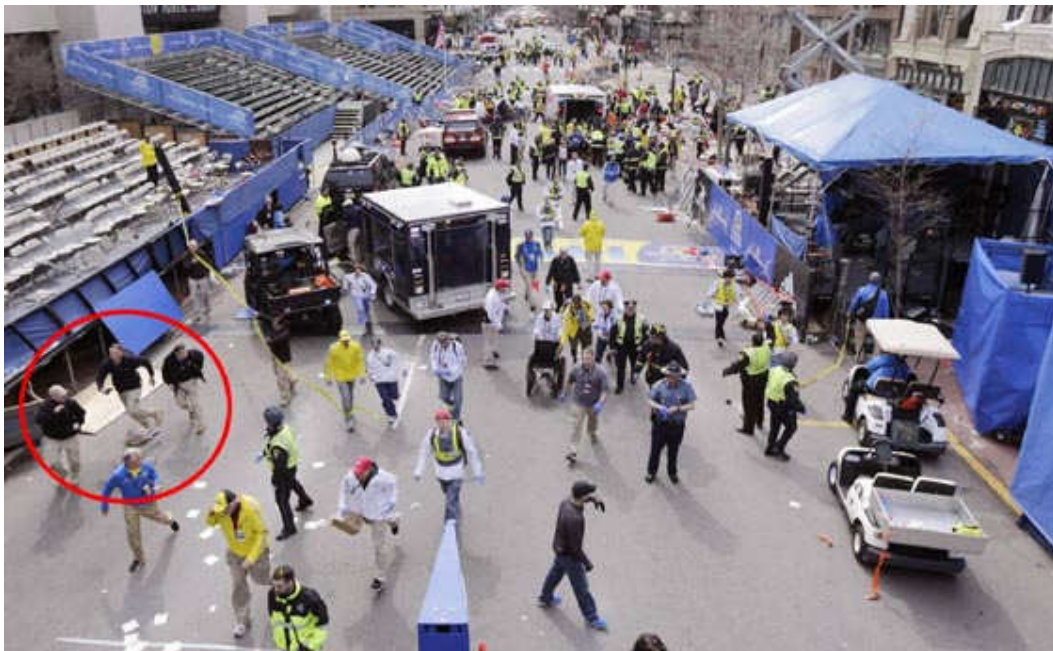

Who are these guys?

Did they have more bombs inside those backpacks?

The Boston PD radio reported additional unexploded devices, since officially denied. (but after that "arrest" gaffe yesterday, the official story on anything is automatically suspect).

UPDATE 2: Here is another picture of the men in black and tan (lower left) leaving the scene.

These men are not first responders or they would be helping the victims.

They are not law enforcement, or they would be helping with crowd control.

They are not bomb disposal squad or they would be looking for more bombs.

So who the hell are they?

FBI releases new photos of Boston suspects ("And this time, we really, really mean it!")

FBI says the man in the white cap is thought to have planted a bomb, but again, this person is making no effort to hide his face in an area he has to know is flooded with cameras.
